PRAYERS FOR EVERYDAY LIVING DECEMBER 2020 EDITORIAL

Season's Greetings, my brothers and sisters in Christ,

The New Year is upon us, but to many, it will seem like more of the same of last year, and the questions lingers, as to when the change will come. My brothers and sisters in Christ, we must be the change that we want to see. We must begin the change from the inside out!

I want to encourage you therefore, to begin the New Year on a positive note. You may not feel like you have anything positive going on in your life at this time, that would encourage you, to look ahead with anticipation; but don't let the Christmas spirit die, carry it in your heart, live every day with joy, hope, peace and love. No one wants to be around anyone who is always grumpy, mean, and callous, and so too, no one will want to be around you if you are grumpy, mean and callous.

This year, make it your aim, to surround yourself with people who will lift you up, people who will be encouraging; and as you have opportunity, do good to others. Scripture reminds us, that, we should not let our hearts be troubled, and while others may have a different view of this, I firmly believe that only we ourselves could allow our hearts to be troubled.

So, this New Year, whatever the situation in the past that tempted your heart to be troubled, move away from it, put some distance between you and that negative person, that friend who is always condescending, that co-worker who is always gossiping about someone else, stop following people on social media who are influencing you in the wrong way, and instead focus on finding and keeping your peace.

Like so many others, I am beginning the New Year unemployed, but am I worried? ABSOLUTELY NOT! I have been submitting to jobs that appeal to me for months, and I am not discouraged, I cannot just throw my hands up in the air and give up; because for one thing, God has never given up on me, and I am confident, that, when the time is right, he will open a window of opportunity for me, that no one will be able to shut, and I will have yet another thing to praise God for.

So too, I am encouraging you to hold on, to not give up, but to trust God, for he is able; believe in your heart, that, eyes have not seen, nor ear heard, nor has it entered into the heart of man, what good things God has in store for you.

My brothers and sisters in Christ, the Coronavirus did not come to stay, it came to pass; and I am hoping, that, all of us would have learned something from going through this crisis. Everything that we go through in life, we should come out of it with something positive, looking at it as a lesson learned event. Take the positive from the negative and build on it.

My brothers and sisters in Christ, I would not be fulfilling my mission today, if I did not explicitly remind you, that, the world and everything in it will pass away, but God's word will stand firm, that you should aspire to make your calling and election sure; because when all of this is past, only what's done for Christ will last. Be on the right side! I am striving every day to be on the right side, and I will not be distracted!

HAPPY NEW YEAR, and may the grace of God abound in your hearts and your homes always.

God bless you all
